

ENGINE PROTECT COVER

Engine protector plan covers damage to the engine caused due to leakage of lubricants, damage to the gearbox and water ingress.

What is engine protection cover

An Engine Protection cover is a useful car insurance add-on that covers any damage. It provides coverage for the cost of repairing or replacing the car's engine or/and its parts under the car insurance policy. This add-on can be purchased with a comprehensive or own damage insurance policy by paying a nominal premium.

What is covered in engine protection cover

Water ingression

Leakage lubricant oil

Damages to gear box

Damages due to hydrostatic pressure

what's not covered

Any other consequential damages, apart from that to the engine or gearbox will not be covered

Any claim where water deluge is not proved in case of water ingress related loss will not be covered.

Damages caused to the engine or gearbox due to wear & tear and not because of an accident or calamity will not be covered

Making a claim for engine protection cover
